City will seek bids on trash hauling

Goal is pact with Norton for mixed-waste recycling

By Bob Slatte
Staff writer

Granite City residents will utilize mixed-waste recycling in three years if all goes according to plan.

On Tuesday, the City Council voted 12-1 to authorize Mayor Ron Sels to sign a 10-year agreement with Norton Environmental of Independence, Ohio, contingent upon the receipt by the city of acceptable waste hauling bids.

Norton wants to build a mixed-waste recycling facility in Wood River, but company officials have not yet signed off on getting a commitment from Granite City. The city of Alton has already signed an agreement with the company.

The facility would take at least two years to build and Granite City's contract would begin as soon as the facility is up and running.

In mixed waste recycling, residents do not separate recyclables from regular trash.

Recyclable materials would be pulled from the waste stream at the proposed Norton facility. In the meantime, Granite City residents will participate in a traditional curbside recycling program. Madison County ordinance requires all residents to participate in a recycling program by July 1.

Granite City's trash hauling contract with Waste Management expires Aug. 31. Dan Hagan, manager of Waste Management's Madison office, said his company will charge the city $9.50 per house per month for recycling during the two-month period between July 1, the start of mandatory recycling, and Aug. 31, when the contract expires. That figure translates into almost

Hot line deluged

Madison County residents have been flooding the county's recycling hot line, 692-7040, extension 8864, with questions since brochures detailing recycling procedures were mailed out.

The most common one, says Denise McCleary, is: "What do I do with my garbage?" The answer, she said, is the same thing you do now.

160 units set for Saturday parade

By Bob Slatte
Staff writer

"Saturday's Centennial Parade in Granite City promises to be the biggest and best city has ever seen, according to parade organizers."

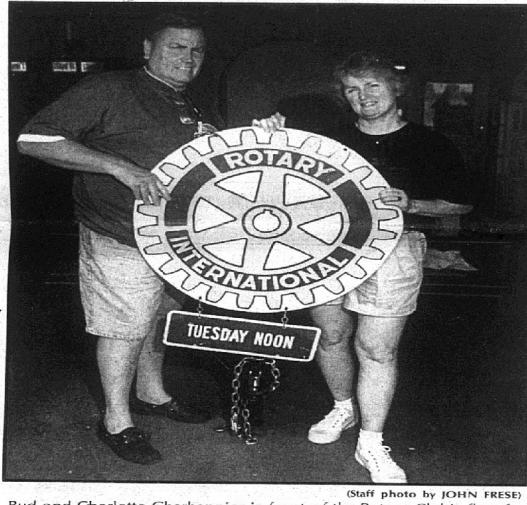

"We're expecting over 160 units to participate in the parade," said Dan Brown, a member of the Centennial Parade committee.

The parade will step off from Niedringhaus Avenue near State Street at 1 p.m. The parade will proceed down Niedringhaus, then Madison Avenue, turn left (north) and proceed down Madison Avenue and conclude at Granite City High School.

A picnic will be held in Wilson Park immediately following the conclusion of the parade. Hot dogs and soda will be $1.50 each; beer will be $2.50 cents. Beer will also be sold.

Several of the marching bands that participate in the parade have agreed to provide music in the park during the picnic.

Among the units expected to participate in the parade are the Ahmad Shriners Krazy (See PARADE, Page 9A)

Bud and Charlotte Charbonnier in front of the Rotary Club's float for the Centennial Parade. The float is being stored in the couple's garage while it is prepared for the event.

City worker Carol Robertson countered by saying Grzywacz was "lying" about complaints.

The council also heard from a resident who complained of poor treatment over an unpaid trash bill from the previous owner of his property.

The resident stated when Grzywacz complained that an 81-year-old woman who was behind in payments for alarm service was treated badly at the service counter at city hall.

He said the woman had been behind in payments since 1993. He then complained that statements had not been sent to the woman, who he declined to name.

Robertson said statements had been sent.

"I know when she paid and when the statements had come out," she said. "You don't; you're telling a bunch of lies."

The resident stated:

"I don't like what's going on down in . . ."

Alderman, worker argue

Services in Madison criticized

Complaints by a Madison alderman about poor service to city hall employees ended in a shouting match between the alderman and a city worker at Tuesday's council meeting.

Alderman Ron Grzywacz said he "didn't like what's going on in the comptroller's office" and that "nobody was in charge."

City worker Carol Robertson countered by saying Grzywacz was "lying" about complaints.

Dan McGuire has a budding career on stage.

McGuire will appear in the St. Louis Muny production of Andrew Lloyd Webber's "Jesus Christ Superstar" next week. The rock opera tells of the life and passion of Jesus Christ. Performances are scheduled for Monday through Saturday, June 24-30, at 8 p.m. Tickets can be obtained at the Muny Box Office or by calling MetroFix at (314) 534-1111.

McGuire, a Granite City resident and body builder, will play a palace guard. He was recruited for the part by Jack Krebs, who made his Muny stage debut two years ago in a production of "The King and I".

News in review

News in review provides a summary of some of the past week's stories. This column is designed for out-of-town readers who do not receive the Sunday and Wednesday Press-Record/Journals.

Nine arrested in sting

Nine men were arrested Friday night and Saturday morning and charged with soliciting for prostitution as a result of a police sting operation in downtown Granite City.

"This operation was conducted in response to increased activity by street-walking prostitutes in the downtown area," said Police Chief Dave Ruebhausen. "Some of them (the prostitutes) we've arrested, some we've not."

A female officer, wired with a microphone, stood near the corner of 19th and State streets while the 11 other officers loitered nearby. After men approached the female officer and offered her money in exchange for sex, the nearby officers closed in and arrested them. The conversations were recorded.

Cooperation pledged

The Tri-Cities Area United Way has reached an agreement with the United Way of Greater St. Louis to cooperate in fund-raising and other aspects of service.

"This is a merger," said Jim Quigley, executive director of the Tri-Cities Area United Way. "This is just an agreement to work together cooperatively and see how it goes."

The Tri-Cities Area United Way raises and provides funds for health and human service organizations in Granite City, Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach. The United Way of Greater St. Louis represents four neighboring counties in Illinois, the city of St. Louis and six counties in Missouri.

Recycling will increase costs

Granite City officials have less than two weeks to make some important decisions about how residents will recycle. And whatever decision they make, city residents will likely end up paying more for trash collection.

Joe Parente, administrator of the Madison County Building, Zoning and Environmental department, told the city council's Sanitation Committee last week that the county expects all residents to be recycling by July 1.

Dan Hannah of Waste Management told the committee that residential residents would pay household per month during July and August, unless the city agreed to a three-year contract extension with the company to continue to provide residential garbage collection service. If the city signs the three-year extension, recycling will cost $1.25 over and above the garbage collection charge.

Asbestos case called important

A Granite City attorney says last week's refusal by the U.S. Supreme Court to hear an appeal of four Madison County jury verdicts in asbestos cases totaling $10 million sends a message to companies about product liability and punitive damages.

(The court's refusal) is telling companies that thought BMW was the lead of punitive damages that they were wrong," said Mark Goldenberg, a partner in the law firm of Hopkins, Goldenberg and Birney which represented the plaintiffs in the asbestos cases.

EPA: Lead study inconclusive

The manager of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's lead cleanup project in Granite City says a recent study of recontamination in the project area does not contain enough data to draw any conclusions about the effectiveness of the cleanup plan.

But city officials say Brad Bradley, project manager, and other EPA officials are ignoring a serious health hazard in the community.

Bradley sent out a letter last week to Granite City area residents addressing the University of Cincinnati study of recontamination at 38 properties where EPA contractors had already "cleaned" lead-contaminated soil.

The EPA found that more than half of the properties had been recontaminated due to lead before the cleanup and that many of the yards had been contaminated.

EPA will hold public informational meetings on the matter at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday and from 9 to 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Postal management assailed

Letter carriers picket, protest new policies

By Bob Slaten
Staff writer

When businesses and residents are unhappy with the U.S. Postal Service, that's get angry at their letter carrier.

That's what letter carriers across the country — including members of National Association of Letter Carriers Branch 1132 in Granite City and Madison — conducted an informational picket at 3,000 locations Wednesday. They say problems with mail delivery are the result of policies set by management — not by carrier incompetence.

"It is not our goal to harm the postal service, but to improve it," said Mike Elliff, president of Branch 1132. "You're seeing the first leaks in the ship — late deliveries and missed deliveries."

Picketers gathered at the main post office on Madison Avenue carrying signs stating "We deliver service if management will let us" and "At risk: the world's best postal service," and distributing informational fliers.

Basically, letter carriers take exception to postal policies, including casual and temporary employees, inefficiencies with regard to implementing automation; and management's apparent attempt to privatize the service and make a profit.

"The postal service we're getting is lip service," Elliff said. "They say they're getting their mail after noon when they're used to getting it at 8 or 9 a.m. Residents are getting their mail at 3 p.m. or later."

Elliff said temporary employees are not trained properly and often thrown out on a route with no maps or instruction.

For example, one hired for 90 to 120 days — was given an unfamiliar route that included the downtown Granite City business district, the Charles Melvin Priester U.S. Army Supply Center and residences on Lincoln Place.

"It was 1 p.m. and he was just getting out. That should have gone out by 9 a.m.," Elliff said. "And this is the type of thing we deal with every day." Many of the delays are caused by rules regarding automated sorting systems, he said. He said that rules scheduled to be fully implemented by 1995 — are utilized 50 percent on a good day, make many mistakes that must be corrected and cause letter carriers to carry several bundles.

"We aren't opposed to automation. It's happening is management's not local management," Elliff said. "Washington, St. Louis and Chicago won't allow the mail to be bundled together. We're taking from the back and the front and this bundle and that bundle. It really slows down delivery once we hit the street."

So what can the public do? "In addition to the usual letter to your congressman, call your local postmaster and tell him you're unhappy and you want him to make service a priority now that directives he gets from above," Elliff said.

the comptroller's office," he said. "Nobody's in charge down there."

"Every week it's somebody else that's complaining about it," he continued. "This lady comes to the window, she's 81 years old and she shouldn't have to take from anybody. They wouldn't give her help; they wouldn't give her five minutes of their precious time."

Grzywacz and Robertson continued to argue until Mayor John Bellcoff told Grzywacz to address his comments to the council. Mayor Eleanor Armour said she had also complained to Bellcoff about poor service previously, and that Bellcoff had said it would be dealt with.

Discussion then turned back to the 81-year-old woman.

Bellcoff said the woman had paid $150 in August 1995 and had made arrangements to pay the balance of $330.

Alderman Alexis Luis was questioned why the service was not turned off if the woman wasn't paying for it.

Bellcoff asked if she would vote to cut the service for nonpaying customers. Luis said she would and motioned to do so.

That motion was later withdrawn after the council agreed to look into the issue.

The council then heard from Dan Goss, who lives in the 900 block of Grand Avenue.

He said he purchased his home in November 1994 and had received bills for overdue trash service from the previous owner.

Goss complained that city workers would not help him and treated him poorly.

He added that the same situation was eventually dealt with by City Attorney Casper Nighoushian, who said the matter should have been handled without his intervention.

The matter was referred to the council's Personnel Committee at the request of Committee Chairman Norris Horton.

The council also heard Nighoushian study a proposed Pontoon Beach ordinance dealing duties for the comptroller and went into executive session to discuss personnel.

After the meeting, Horton said there are valid complaints. "We have a problem with the staff and some of the citizens," he said. "Some of those complaints are valid."

He said part of the problem is a lack of clear lines of authority.

"We have new procedures, a lot of new ordinances, new state rules and federal guidelines," he said. "The staff needs to be kept up to date and that hasn't been happening."

Comptroller Jeanne Weidner suggested that some of the complaints are probably politically motivated.

Comptroller Jeanne Weidner is the wife of City Clerk William Weidner, who is a mayoral candidate.

"Hopefully that won't be the overriding issue," Horton said.

"The issue is to serve the taxpayers as best we can."

Robertson and Jeanne Weidner declined comment on Wednesday.

6 charged in dispute

Six Granite City residents were charged with misdemeanor battery by Madison police following an incident early Tuesday morning.

The incident occurred at approximately 12:45 a.m. in the 1300 block of Madison Avenue. Reports were unavailable, but police said the fight stemmed from a rent dispute.

Charged were Michael Antonovich, 26, of the 1300 block of Antonovich; 56, both of the 1400 block of Madison Avenue; Marvin Anthony Clemons, 33, of the 1500 block of Garfield; David Crotz, 21, of 15th Street; and Jolene Ann Shepard, 19, both of Parktowne Drive; John Michael Freeman, 27, of the 1300 block of Madison Avenue. All were released on a notice to appear.

Two other people were charged with battery in a separate incident early Wednesday morning.

Lynda Kay Lear, 22, of the 2500 block of Parkway Drive, and Pauline Polach Jr., 21, of the 2000 block of 14th Street were charged with battery after filing complaints against each other.

According to police reports, the incident occurred at approximately 2:55 a.m. in the 1800 block of Beckwith Avenue. On one occasion, Polach had gone to the address to talk to Polach about a misunderstanding, and when Polach got into a car with another woman, Polach said that Lear attacked him in the car.

a replacement for Nellie Hagnauer on the November ballot. He had won the party's nomination for candidacy in the primary election in March.

Some of the precinct committeemen polled said they would pick Granite City Alderman Mac Warfield, chairman of the Madison County Democratic Central Committee, to replace Nellie Hagnauer on the November ballot.

Warfield said he would probably accept the party's appointment, if asked.

If Warfield is placed on the ballot and subsequently wins, he would have to give up his seat as 6th Ward alderman on the City Council.

Warfield serves as chairman of the Street and Alley and Finance committees and has considerable influence among his fellow aldermen.

Mayor Ron Selph would name a successor to Warfield if Warfield is elected to the county board.

Also Wednesday, Papa appointed County Board Clerk Tom Payne of Wood River to fill Nellie Hagnauer's term on the Madison County Transit District Board.

Hagnauer had been transit district chairman as well. That post was filled earlier this month when the transit district board elected member Terry "Bones" Allan of Collinsville to the post.

Madison OKs account for raceway TIF funds

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

An ordinance establishing an escrow account for funds in the city of Madison's tax increment financing district was approved at Tuesday's City Council meeting.

The account will be set up for TIF funds designated to Gateway International Raceway. The raceway is undergoing a $25 million improvement and renovation project, which is the primary focus of development in the TIF district.

Much of the cost of the development is being paid by $21.5 million in state-backed revenue bonds.

The council met in executive session Tuesday with Mary Kane of Stifel, Nicolaus & Co., a Belleville investment firm working with the raceway to finance development of the course before approving the ordinance.

In tax increment financing, the amount of property tax generated in a district going to taxing bodies is frozen. Any increase in tax revenue goes into a fund that can be used only in the TIF district.

The district can last up to a maximum of 23 years.

Under a redevelopment agreement signed in February, 70 percent of the funds generated in the TIF — up to a maximum of $12 million — will go to fund offset development costs for Gateway International Raceway over a 20-year period.

The remaining 30 percent goes to the city to be used within the district.

The redevelopment agreement specifies that all tax revenue will go through the city, which would reimburse the raceway for allowable expenses which are set by state statute.

Under the escrow agreement, the 70 percent for the raceway will go directly from St. Clair County to the raceway's property taxes, to an account at Magna Bank of Belleville, which will act as the escrow agent.

The money would be transferred to the raceway after approval by the city.

City attorney Casper Nighohossian said the

The redevelopment agreement specifies that all funds would go through the city, which would reimburse the raceway for allowable expenses, which are set by state statute.

two main points worked out are that any interest accruing in the escrow account would be counted toward the 70 percent or $12 million cap, and the escrow agreement will end when those caps are reached or an event such as bankruptcy occurs.

The first phase of the expansion is a new 4,000-foot drag strip and a 15,000-seat permanent grandstand.

Construction on the drag strip started in late April, but has been delayed because of rainy weather.

The second phase, slated to begin as soon as phase one is completed in the fall, will be a 1.25-mile oval track and 25,000 more permanent seats.

When finished in 1997, the raceway will have a state-of-the-art drag and oval track, and will be capable of hosting National Hot Rod Association and NASCAR events.

When finished, the raceway could attract almost 500,000 people each year and have a local economic impact of about $70 million, developers say.

When not being used for races, the facility could be used for a variety of auto-related events.

Developers say the possibilities include a law enforcement driving school, race car driving schools, vehicle and product testing and auto commercials.

Custom, antique car show set

The second annual "Cruise for Youth" Custom and Antique Auto Show will be held 8 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Saturday, June 29, at Wilson Park.

There will be 40 competitive classes of automobiles and trucks participating. Judging begins at 12:30 p.m., with prizes for the best in each class.

Opinion

Carol's comments

Dumb, dumber is U.S. standard

Talk about the dumbing of America — to say nothing about letting our neighbors, worldwide, in on just how bad it is.

Well, thanks to a poll of graduating college seniors, randomly selected from (also randomly chosen) colleges and universities and conducted by the Report Center for Public Opinion Research, University of Connecticut, we're in the process of airing our dirty educational lined to some 44 countries in Europe, Africa and the Middle East.

That's because the poll was conducted by a new Sunday newspaper, the American, to be circulated in those countries for the education of Americans abroad.

And after reading the results of the poll, let's hope those tourists and expatriates hide their copies or use them in the toilet paper envelope.

The poll consisted of twenty questions on a variety of subjects with the sampling error plus or minus 4.5 percent. As we go further, bear in mind that those polled were graduating from college, not high school.

According to an Associated Press story in Washington, D.C., a week or so ago, 50 percent of graduating seniors participated in the poll, enough to give one pause after reading the results. For example, of those surveyed, 92 percent didn't know that the phrase "Government of the people, by the people..." was from Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

I'd wager these same kids don't have the foggiest notion where "When in the course of human events..." or "We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union..." originated.

If memory serves, at least in Illinois kids can graduate from high school without passing a course in American history. How quickly these 460 have forgotten! If they ever learn again, it will be in a place other than school.

Taking our history a tad further, 84 percent of the 500 didn't know that Harry Truman was president when World War II began and less than 25 percent could identify Italy and Japan as Germany's principal allies in World War II.

Send us your letters, columns

The Granite City Press-Record/Journal welcomes both letters to the editor and guest columns.

The newspaper provides the "Letters" column to give readers an opportunity to voice opinions on various items of interest. Letters should be typed, preferably less than 10 paragraphs. Typed letters or letters that are neatly written are given priority treatment.

Each letter must be signed and include the telephone number and address of the author. Only the name and city will be published.

The "Opinion Shapers" column is open to those interested in writing at length on a topic of current interest. You may contact Bob Slatte at 877-7700 for information.

Carol
Clarkin

Only 29 percent could identify Martin Luther as the founder of Protestantism and 75 percent didn't know that Plato had authored "The Republic."

Mathematics fared somewhat better, with 53 percent able to add and calculate the perimeter of a room 65 feet wide and 35 feet long.

Considering our national affection for platitudes like "the bright future of our future," I'd say the poll results are pretty scary. They assuredly provide some serious food for reflection. Such as, what in the here and there learning on a college level? These aren't tough questions; in fact, most of them should have been learned in high school.

What, however, has happened to requirement standards for college entrance, let alone standards for decent? To me, every high school graduate is college material and there's certainly no shame in that.

It's simply a given, based on my own high school, such as interests, talents and skills. I have too many intelligent friends in such fields as carpentry, auto mechanics, farming, business and owners of small businesses who have managed to lead successful lives without even seeing a university classroom to look down my nose at them.

Just as man does not live by bread alone, the world doesn't operate solely by the work of degree holders. But please don't get me started on the subject of university acceptance of students who require courses in remedial reading, writing and math to the level of Dick, Jane and good old Spot.

As for the "Twenty Questions" list, I'll just go grocery shopping. I doubt that I'll ever forget the Gettysburg Address.

The village board members say they were not informed about the raid. To the world like to know: Who is calling the kettle black? I've been to village meetings where Mike Macei has acted as past or namesake and amazeballs owner of the full village board's knowledge. The village board members need to work together.

The village is growing, and I think the police department needs more officers to protect the village. I think that hiring and raid could have been avoided or handled differently if there were more officers on duty at the time.

Then the question comes up: Does the village have the money for more officers? What if Mike Macei would stop pushing for comptrollers that costs two or three thousand dollars?

The comptroller will handle the finances. Then, he wants an outside agent to do the payroll.

He wants the village to pay $200 a month. If he keeps this up, the village won't have a cent to hire more officers. What if the police officer who shot and killed the 32-year-old is still on the job. The law has gone too far.

Citizens, wake up! Start writing letters to P.O. Box 1285, Granite City, IL 62040. We'll forward the letters to the Just

City Department and the President of the United States.

TO THE EDITOR:
(To the residents of Pontoon Beach)

I'm sure all have read or heard about the shooting and the drug raid in the village.

There are bad things happening all over the country, but it really hits harder when it happens in your own backyard and to people you know.

It's very sad that these things had to happen. But, pointing fingers at the police department and the police committee is not going to solve the problem. The village board members need to work together.

The village board members say they were not informed about the raid. To the world like to know: Who is calling the kettle black? I've been to village meetings where Mike Macei has acted as past or namesake and amazeballs owner of the full village board's knowledge. The village board members need to work together.

The village is growing, and I think the police department needs more officers to protect the village. I think that hiring and raid could have been avoided or handled differently if there were more officers on duty at the time.

Then the question comes up: Does the village have the money for more officers? What if Mike Macei would stop pushing for comptrollers that costs two or three thousand dollars?

The comptroller will handle the finances. Then, he wants an outside agent to do the payroll.

He wants the village to pay $200 a month. If he keeps this up, the village won't have a cent to hire more officers. What if the police officer who shot and killed the 32-year-old is still on the job. The law has gone too far.

Citizens, wake up! Start writing letters to P.O. Box 1285, Granite City, IL 62040. We'll forward the letters to the Just

City Department and the President of the United States.

Pontoon Beach

Was shooting necessary?

TO THE EDITOR:

The Pontoon Beach incident is just another incident of police brutality that Citizens Against Police Abuse is trying to bring to the attention of the public.

There are a lot of incidents that are unreported. In the May 5 issue of the Journal, the paper reported that Dan Horton, retired St. Louis police officer who resides in Pontoon Beach, was critical of the Pontoon Beach Police Department, indicated a lack of training and said, "There's nothing at all straight about those people over there," referring to the police recently.

Recently, there was a 32-year-old citizen from Pontoon Beach who was shot and killed by a police officer in Pontoon. Was this poor judgment and lack of training on the part of police? Remember, he had a wife, not a gun. Did this man have to die? Today, you tomorrow.

Where is our Constitution? It is not working for us. A police officer who shot and killed the 32-year-old is still on the job. The law has gone too far.

Citizens, wake up! Start writing letters to P.O. Box 1285, Granite City, IL 62040. We'll forward the letters to the Just

City and Madison pledged to postal customers that we will continue to provide you with the best service possible and we will fight those management who would sacrifice the service you receive just to make some points with the post bureau in Washington.

The demonstration we have just conducted is only the beginning. We ask for your support and encouragement as we strive to convince postal management that you our postal customers — deserve nothing short of the very best service.

Mihalich gets support

TO THE EDITOR:
I was impressed when I saw that Jim Mihalich was going to race in the Olympic Torch Relay. He should be honored, and we should all be proud that a member of our community was chosen to represent the area in this great tradition.

My understanding was that he was chosen for his background of community service and his help in saving the eye-sight of a woman in Brighton.

When I realized that this was the same Jim Mihalich that is running for state representative, this self-righteous attitude went to decide who I'm voting for. If Mihalich is good enough to be chosen by the Olympic Committee to represent millions of Americans like us in the Metro-East area for the Torch Relay, then he's certainly good enough to represent me as my state representative.

Want to find a radio rat's car on a used car lot? Look for the one with the worn-out push buttons.

From the time I was old enough to tell the difference between G.I. Joe's and the original K.W.K. and Ed Wilson on "wonderful" W.I.L., I was hooked on radio. Still am, even though I do as much talking on the phone as I do on the radio.

I especially enjoy DX-ing, or tuning in out-of-town and out-of-the-country broadcasts. (By the way, kudos to the person who developed the "seek and scan" tuning feature for modern car radios.)

On a recent trip to my aunt's home in northeastern Arkansas, I found myself in WGUN for as long as I could as I cruised down Interstate 55. By Perryville, the local talk show was sounding like Rice Krispies — all snap, crackle and pop. One punch of the seek button and...

From 920 to 960 on the AM dial, KZIM in Cape Girardeau, Missouri, was also on WGUN for as long as I could as I cruised down Interstate 55. By Perryville, the local talk show was sounding like Rice Krispies — all snap, crackle and pop. One punch of the seek button and...

opinion shapers

In the morning, I knew their homeboy, Rush Limbaugh, was coming on. I normally don't listen to Rush — normally, because he's our competition. But, what the heck. Today, I'll try him. Turned out he was on vacation, and another noted conservative, Michael Medved, was sitting in. Even better — he'd be less irritating.

After a few minutes, however, the old seek and scan finger got itchy. "Push... the numbers on the radio dial changed, but what I was hearing didn't. OK, I'm now tuned to the Limbaugh affiliate in St. Louis."

Which station is 600 on the AM dial? Oh yeah, Memphis.

Another Limbaugh station. Push... now, it's Blytheville, Ark.

Push... it's Poplar Bluff, Mo. More of that sound from behind the golden microphone. Push again... and only the voice of Van Alstyne from FOX's version of Limbaugh from sounding exactly like all the others.

A trip to the FM band was no better. Now, there were sound-alike country tunes with sound-alike announcers ("It's 21 minutes past the hour"). That figures — more satellite feeds. I'm back to Rush. Through a thing or two, I know. Jim White taught him everything he knew about broadcasting the "Big Bumper" did a marvelous job. Satellite feeds are what irritate me. Nowadays, what plays in Peoria plays in Petaluma, Phoenix, Pittsburgh and Poplar Bluff.

It's not that I don't like listening to only those prefabricated pork patties. Or going to Chicago for deep dish pizza and being served gummy gumbo in New Orleans and special. Or looking for authentic gumbos in New Orleans and being served canned soup instead.

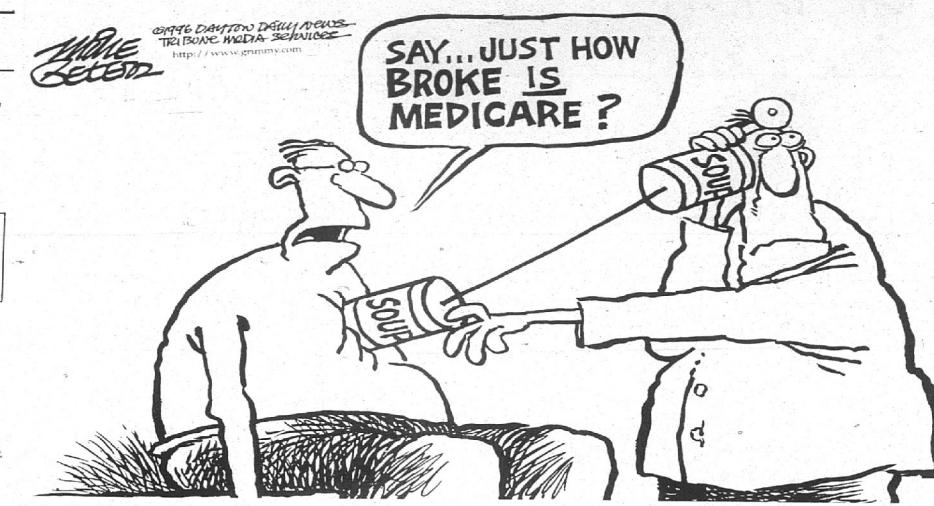

Cost, I mean! It's easier and cheaper for some station owners to punch up a satellite than rely on live air talent. Unfortunately for the radio rat, it means mediocrity, not excellence, in broadcasting.

Wonder if any of our St. Louis broadcasting legends — Johnny Carson, David Letterman, Tom Snyder, David Frost, Chuck Norman to name only a few — would have become legends had there been satellite feeds in the 1940s and 1950s.

Thank goodness we'll never know.

Hannan offered recycling at $1.25 per house per month — or about $26,715 for the two-month period — if the city would agree to a three-year extension of the current hauling contract. But the City Council, on the recommendation of its Sanitation Committee, will instead seek competitive bids on a new garbage hauling contract.

Granite City currently pays Waste Management $1 per house per month for trash hauling services. Residents pay the $1 a per month fee to subsidize the program.

Most aldermen said they want the city to get out of the trash billing business. The bid specifications will call for service,

"to haul residential waste," expressed interest in the new contract.

The specifications will require haulers to bid on a five-year deal providing trash hauling services and recycling services for the first three years and trash hauling only to the proposed MacTaggart facility for the final two years, MacTaggart said.

"This way we can get a good idea exactly what (mixed waste) recycling will cost," said Alderman Nick Petrillo, chairman of the Sanitation Committee.

The agreement with Norton calls for the city's hauler to get the best tipping fee offered at the mixed waste facility.

Because that fee is unknown, it is difficult to determine the cost of mixed waste recycling to Hannan.

Hannan estimated that mixed waste recycling would cost residents about $2 per house per month, which is about 75 cents more than the price of curbside recycling Hannan proposed for a contract extension and $1.50 less than Hannan's own quote.

Several aldermen said they thought residents would gladly pay 75 cents more per month to eliminate the need to separate recyclables from the rest of the garbage.

Alderman Bob Page cast the lone dissenting vote on the Norton agreement.

Alderman Alan Crider was absent from the meeting.

Patriotic Festival June 29

Saturday, June 29, will be the 4th Annual Patriotic Festival known as the "Family Fourth of July" presented by Edwardsville American Legion of God in Co-Sponsorship with Praise Radio KKED-1010 AM.

Beginning at 5 p.m., this event is held at the Edwardsville Sports Complex, Illinois 157 and Center Grove Road.

This year's theme is "How The West Was Won" and the attire will be encouraged to dress in Western attire.

A prize will be awarded to the best dressed Western outfit (modesty a must).

There will be a 40-member choir presenting a patriotic musical with drama. One of the main features is a patriotic salute to our country and the armed forces during the "Living Free Musical" which will begin around 8:30 p.m.

The evening will conclude with the fireworks following the musical at approximately 9:30 p.m.

Other interests will include pony rides, miniature train rides, petting zoo, games and activity booths, antique car show, and mini-movie exhibits.

Fourth of July favorites such as hot dogs, popcorn, soda pop plus current fast foods will be available. (No alcoholic beverages are allowed on the grounds).

Rain date will be Sunday, June 30.

• Hall

the cities in Madison County." Page said when making the motion to give the building a name.

The building formerly known as Town Hall was constructed at 2001 Davis Drive in 1970. Bragnauer's original building, featuring a large auditorium, revenue sharing funds received in the early 1970s. The building has facilities for senior citizens, the supervisor's and assessor's offices and city employees. It is often used for wedding receptions, birthday parties and other community events.

Bragnauer was elected town supervisor in 1961 and served in that capacity up until his death last month.

"The new facility was planned, financed and constructed with the leadership and foresight of Supervisor Bragnauer," the resolution states.

On May 21, the Granite City School Board voted unanimously to name the high school athletic complex after Bragnauer, who was an outstanding athlete at Granite City High School and was a strong supporter of youth athletic programs.

"The school district and community has truly lost a friend and dear figure," said Superintendent Steve Ballou. "He will be missed very much and it is very appropriate that we name the high school athletic fields — the very fields he participated on — in his honor."

• Deluged

"You still going to have a garbage can and you're still going to have to go to the curb to put your garbage can," she said. Items that aren't accepted will go into the garbage can.

"If in doubt, throw it out," said McCleary, the county's solid waste coordinator.

The countywide curbside recycling program, the first in the state, began July 1 in the Chicago area.

More than 60,000 blue recycling bins have been or will be delivered to households by the end of this month. Distribution varies by municipality, with municipalities, townships, haulers and contractors sharing the work.

The program is part of the county's effort to comply with a state mandate for recycling of 25 percent of solid waste by July 1.

"It really is as easy as 1-2-3," McCleary said, echoing the theme of the brochure being mailed to 80,000 households in the county.

Many types of paper and most glass, metal and plastic containers suggest placing containers on the bottom and paper on top. Paper may be placed in paper grocery bags and put in or near the bin.

People who have more recyclables than an 18-gallon bin will hold can use paper bags or cardboard boxes placed next to bins, she said.

McCleary said pickup days should remain the same unless residents are told otherwise by haulers.

A county ordinance adopted in 1994 requires that residents, commercial and institutional, place recyclable items and place them in the correct receptacle.

The law applies to all single-family households unless the municipality or township has signed agreements with the county to assume responsibility for meeting the 25 percent recycling goal. No such agreements have been signed.

"I hope, everyone, will be successful," said Bragnauer, who has been highly effective in several Illinois cities, including Normal, with a 70 percent recycling rate; Wheaton, 47 percent; Mount Prospect, 38 percent; Schaumburg, 37 percent; and Aurora, 29 percent.

Many Madison County communities, including Edwardsville, Glen Carbon and Collinwood, have had curbside recycling programs for several years.

Prep softball games sing out to fans

It is not unusual during the summer for this scribe to attend many sporting events. Yet, during the spring I was reminded how fortunate I am to be able to pick and choose the games I watch.

One of the reasons I do not get to the little league baseball games or football games, especially when my son, Robbie, was playing, is that I've had my fill of "Hey, batter! Hey, batter!"

Now, there's nothing wrong with hearing a few encouraging words from the pitcher, by calling out the opposing batter, but if I figure I've heard "Hey, batter!" more times than any human needs to hear it.

Last evening, though, while attending the Class AA girls regional softball finals at O'Fallon, my demise returned.

You see, during the action of the semi-final game, I won that the girls displayed their enthusiasm with what is a type of sing-song cheering from both benches.

After a foul ball, for instance, you are likely to hear: "Hey, hey, whatta you say? Hit the ball the other way."

Again, if such supports or mock-ups, by players, are it. However, I'm a long way from those years when cheerleaders might say: "See that basket, set that rim, come on Artie, put in a lay-up."

Still, in asking around and while realizing there are no actual cheerleaders at girls softball games, I learned that not all schools are into the sing-song.

According to Belleville East coach, Rick Menke, who guided the Lancers to state titles in 1989 and '95, her teams have avoided the cheering routine since she became head coach in position 1982.

"I vividly recall when some of the male coaches asked me if our team would be a bunch of cheerleaders, not softball players," said Menke. "I was embarrassed and never let our teams do it."

Thus, East players — freshmen through seniors — ingratiate their teammates and cheer by doing such things as clapping their hands, but the girls sing song.

"It's on all levels," said Menke, who said it starts in the Khoury League with things like, "Alligator, alligator, eat me."

"If that's what it takes to win, let them do it," she added, while noting that even collegiate teams like Eastern Illinois and SIU-Carbondale are more kept up.

According to O'Fallon coach Janet Lujue, the cheering "is just something the girls do."

"It's not a distraction," said Lujue.

"You do want your players to have enthusiasm," said Menke.

Still, as the summer action continues, I will stick in little league baseball or softball. I'll carry my aspirin for headache reasons and beware of "alligators" and "Hey batter."

EXTRA INNINGS: Congrats to Amy Buttmer and Nicki Wray, two former O'Fallon players, and Teri Marvich, an East grad, who helped the University of Illinois-Kolka to 29 wins and one of the school's most successful seasons.

A four-year starter, Wray had a school-record 18 doubles in her senior season and helped the Miners to an overall 50-50 mark the past two seasons.

Buttmer, a third baseman, joined Wray as an honor student. Amy gained her degree in chemical engineering, while Wray is nearing a degree in engineering management.

Marvich, a first baseman, concluded her senior season as a CMVCA All-American and Mid-America Intercollegiate All-American and made the All-Academic second team.

19TH HOLE: Tim Riley, the Althoff senior-to-be, may not have qualified for the U.S. Open in action at Boone Valley in Missouri, where he shot a 167 in the first hole and a 55 on the par-5, 553-yard sixth hole should have been enough of a reminder that the 17-year-old has a brilliant golf future.

The women's scholastic team was the only soccer squad from the Southern Region to not win a gold medal at last year's Prairie State Games. This year, they'd like to join the party.

Seeing the success achieved by the other three Southern Region soccer teams was difficult last year, especially when the scholastic women probably should have won their division as well.

Being ready for the big game is our biggest concern," Schuler said. "We're going to be more prepared and a little less cocky."

"But the other team (North Shore) surprised us. The key this year is to be more prepared and a little less cocky."

GCHS duo on mend as Games near

By Rob Raphael

Granite City has a strong contingent of players who have a chance to play for the scholastic team in the Prairie State Games. But for some, injuries will have to heal before they can play any soccer this year.

Two of Granite City's players are recovering from deviations during this year.

Roxie Simpson would have been a mainstay on the Lady Warriors' high school team, but she suffered a broken leg last year while playing soccer. Meanwhile, Kristin Knox was having trouble with the Lady Warriors before she sustained a knee injury in the sectional final against Collinsville.

Simpson's injury kept her out of the lineup for the first two games, and she was able to rehab in time for the Prairie State Games — which begin June 28 at the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer fields. "We're going to try to let her rest right up until the games," said women's coach Terry Schuler. "And then maybe she'll be able to go."

"We've been doing a lot of work on it, and it's a lot better," said Simpson, who completed her junior year recently. "It's about a person. I'd say, Just being out of shape is a big problem for me right now, and I'm working on that."

Simpson collided with a goalkeeper in a game during the winter season. So how could she possibly come back and be effective for the Games without any practice?

"I think I can be OK for the Prairie State Games," she said. "I'm still able to come in for five or six minutes at a time."

Knox hurt her knee when she collided with a Collinsville forward on a 50-50 ball late in the sectional championship game. But in a way, she was lucky. The injury wasn't as serious as

Ace pitches Edwardsville past Junior Triplets 5-2

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

The Tri-City Junior Triplets fell to 5-2 on the season Tuesday night with a 7-1 loss to Edwardsville in an American Legion game played at Varsity Field in Granite City.

Tri-City was taking on one of the better Junior Legion teams in the area. The Edwardsville High School team picked up the win with an unearned run in their half of the first inning, sandwiched around a hit by Tri-City.

In addition, this group is led by Ben Hutton, a sophomore who was considered the ace of the high school staff. He shut Post 113 down on Tuesday, allowing only two runs.

But Tri-City's John Kelly actually outdueled Hutton for more than five innings.

"John did a really nice job for us," said Junior Triplets manager Chad Lignoul. "He's a good pitcher, and he doesn't throw very hard, but he's always around the plate."

"The first two times through the lineup, they couldn't get anything against John. But in the third time through, they started hitting him pretty good. And we made a few mistakes."

Tri-City took the game 4-1, entering the fifth inning. The Junior Triplets scored an unearned run in their half of the first inning when Edwardsville booted a couple of balls, sandwiched around a hit by Tri-City.

With runners on first and third, Hutton made his only mistake of the day: he balked a run home.

Tri-City's luck on Tuesday could be summed up with one play in the fifth inning. With two outs, Post 117 failed to execute the bunt on a squeeze play.

"We get the guy at third base hung up halfway, and our catcher tries to throw to third and hits the guy in the helmet," Lignoul said. "The ball goes all the way out to left field. The wheels pretty much fall off after that."

Still, Lignoul is happy with the way his team has played this summer.

"Hutton was the guy who beat the high school (Warriors) team 8-0 earlier this year," he said. "And we're in the ballpark up to the fifth inning. We actually swung the bats pretty well the first two or three innings."

Carlyle star back to lead Southern

By Scott Marion

Only one player returns from the 1995 Southern Region women's scholastic basketball team, which won a gold medal at the "Prained Games."

But that's why it happens to be Courtney Smith, and that alone gives coach Doug Haas reason for optimism. Haas, the head girls' coach at O'Fallon High School, takes a probe over for Althoff coach Jim Kaminski.

"Courtney is not only an excellent basketball player, she's a terrific person," Haas said. "She's a junior forward-midfielder. Mrs. Simpson is still recovering from a severely broken leg, and isn't 100 percent yet."

And there are others who are doing well, including Kristin Knox and forward Jennifer Willman, two others from Granite City, are nursing injuries. Knox injured a knee late in the high school season.

Courtney said she received word late Tuesday that O'Fallon junior midfielder Shannan Stock might also be

Busch Stadium site of baseball benefit

Baseball fans of all ages are invited to participate in a rare, once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to stand at home plate and try to hit a baseball out of Busch Stadium.

"Blast it out of Busch," a special event to benefit SIDS Resources, Inc., and Children's Miracle Network, will be held Saturday, July 12. A special pitching machine will deliver slow pines over the plate, giving participants the thrill of what it's like to "play" professional baseball.

And at the same time, they'll help raise much-needed funds for SIDS and Children's Miracle Network. Baseball enthusiasts Bob Costas and Stan Musial are serving as honorary chairmen.

Private groups of up to 25 people can purchase one hour of batting time on Saturday, July 6, between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m.; on Sunday, July 7, between 8 a.m. and noon. Space is limited to 15 groups. The cost is $2,000, which includes 50 minutes of batting time, a meal and entertainment.

In addition, fans can participate in an on-site raffle during the event. Tickets are $5 each or three for $10 and must be purchased at the stadium during the event.

Participants can win a chance to throw out the first pitch at a 1997 Cardinals game; a signed, original pen and ink drawing of the St. Louis Cardinals.

PSG individual competition still open for registration

The 13th Annual Prairie State Games are still accepting entries for individual sports at their finals competition June 28-30 in southwestern Illinois.

There are 15 individual sports offered for various ages and abilities: archery, bowling, chess, fencing, figure skating, gymnastics, judo, karate, shooting, swimming, table tennis, track and field, tumbling/trampoline/double-mini, weightlifting and wrestling.

Competitors must be Illinois residents, or those attending an Illinois school or stationed at an in-state military base.

The state-wide competition is Illinois' largest amateur sports festival. The cost to enter most sports is $15, which includes a convenient uniform and a chance to win medals. The entry fee for figure skating is $25.

There is an additional charge of $7 for the second event in archery, $10 for trampoline/double-mini competition. A lineage fee of $5 will be additionally charged for bowling.

In addition to competing, the athletes will be able to participate in the Opening Ceremonies at 8 p.m. Friday, June 28 at the Track & Field and Soccer Stadium at SIUE.

To receive an application or for more information, call the PSG office at 632-1002. Applications also will be received over the phone with either a VISA or MasterCard credit card.

Whiplash? Auto Accident?

Americans are involved in 1 auto accident each 10 years, which may cause significant injury to nerves, muscles and ligaments, resulting in neck and back pain and stiffness, headache, pain or numbness in the arms or legs, weakness, etc.

Uncorrected whiplash or back injury may result in permanent damage such as arthritis, disc degeneration or neurological problems. It's wise to be examined for range of motion, neurological or postural changes or strength loss. Electronic range of motion and strength testing is the most accurate and accepted method of evaluating whiplash and other injury.

This state-of-the-art diagnostic testing and treatment are available at the injured, but she had not spoken to her yet. "I think we'll be OK," said Schuler. "We're very young, but we're also very hard-working. If we can play hard as a team, we can win," said Schuler.

The scholastic team, which features players who attended high school during the past season, should be as strong as any team in the state to stay healthy. The team is made up of players from the immediate area, including five from Granite City, four from Collinsville, three from Edwardsville, three from O'Fallon, two from Alton and one each from Highland and Bethalto.

Besides Knox, Simpson and Williams, Granite City's team on the team include defender Crystal Timmons and keeper Shannon Roth.

Collinsville players include forward Tasha Siegel and defenders Jody Bales, Chris Miller and Lori Benesh.

Players from the Belleville area are forwards Shannon Bramble and Kristy Kaemmerer, both from Belleville High School, and forwards Kim Schmidt and Catherine Guenther, both from Althoff.

O'Fallon is represented by Sara Griswold and defender Sara Griswold, as well as midfielder Kourtney Bradford.

Defender Sara Ruckman and midfielder Kristin Card of Alton are also on the roster.

As are midfielders forwards Rita Durbin of Highland and Holly Houston of Bethalto.

Schuler is in her second year of coaching the girls' scholastic women's team, but she is a veteran of the Prairie State Games. She has participated in all but one year of the games, plus the women's team through the years.

In fact, she was coached on the open women's team by Eric Mitchell, who is now assisting Schuler on the scholastic team. Mitchell is also Schuler's fiance. It's been hard for Schuler and her team to get much practice time in. Normally they practice every week, but the games were canceled this year because of the Olympic Games, which will be held in Atlanta in July.

But for a scholastic team that uses high school players, it makes it tough.

"Up until the last week or so, some of the girls were still in high school and playing," states Schuler. "We weren't able to even hold tryouts, and we've only been able to get three practices in. So we're not as prepared as we'd like to be."

The Prairie State Games will be held June 28-30, with most of the action taking place at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Games will also be played in Belleville and surrounding communities.

Competition will begin Friday, June 28, with a full slate of games at SIUE.

it could have been.

"It's still messed up, but I'm hoping on playing (next week)," Knox said. "I guess you could say it's about 60-70 percent healed. I stretched the ligaments in the knee, but I guess it could have been worse."

"It was a fairly serious injury. I know that," Schuler said. "She's definitely out until the summer. We'll have to wait and see what she can do."

Knox said she'll visit an orthopedic doctor within the next week. He'll advise her on when she can get back up and exercise the knee.

"I basically have to stay off of the knee until then," she said. "When we're playing, I have done on it, it hasn't made it too bad. Although it hurts at night after I've been on it during the day."

Both players said they felt badly about the opportunities their injuries forced them to miss. Simpson was denied an entire spring season of high school soccer, which saw the Lady Warriors pick up a third-place trophy at state.

And just when Knox was hitting her stride late in the year, she sprained her knee again.

"I think I was playing pretty well before the injury," Knox said. "I wanted to play the rest of the games. But I wanted to support the team, and in return they supported me, too. But it was still hard to play, and I just had to not be able to do anything."

"It was horrible to have to sit out a whole year," Simpson said. "I'm hoping I can play in the Prairie State Games, and hopefully that will make up for it a little bit."

Both girls expect to see time for the Elks' Select '77 team this summer, but neither is willing to rush into things.

And Simpson might have seen a little action last weekend, when the Elks went in a tournament in Alton, but on the way to the tourney, he was involved in a minor traffic accident.

"I wasn't hurt, just shaken up a little," she said. "But I felt like I shouldn't try to play that day."

Each player also said she thought the scholastic team could win the gold medal that eluded the squad last year. Both Simpson and Knox were members of the team that won the silver medal and not be able to do anything."

"We just have to keep working and trying to get better."

"We still have to put things together," Simpson said. "There are a lot of new faces on the team. I just hope I'm able to get fit and help the team out."

"Hey, we're still 5-2, and we're playing pretty well. What's hurting us is the lack of wins."

In fact, Lignoul said he was concerned about the entire Legion program in the Granite City area. Numbers are not high on either the Junior or Senior squads, and when a player moves up a level — like Scott Smallie did earlier this week — it puts Lignoul in a bind.

"Right now, if I use a DH (designated hitter), I've got two kids sitting on the bench," he said.

"I'm concerned about baseball as a whole in this area. I think everybody just needs to work together, to do what's best for the game. That's been lost a bit. We just want to keep the winning tradition here."

Lignoul said his team will face the best teams on its schedule Friday at Varsity Field, Evansville (Ind.) will take on the Junior Triplets at 7 p.m.

"They're a great team," he said. "Hopefully, we can play with them."

Also, Saturday's scheduled doubleheader against Breese at 1 p.m. Saturday has been trimmed back to just a single game.

"I don't have enough guys to play a doubleheader right now," Lignoul said. "It's still a good team, and we'll win together and lose together."

Christy Wiseman, a 5-11 forward from Eldorado.

"We'll probably run a lot of people in and out of the lineup," said coach Steve Haas. "She's able to get up and down the court with the basketball in her hands. She's also a good passer."

"It's neat to have Joda on the floor again. Defensively, she's spectacular and she's gotten stronger since the end of the basketball season, which should help her a lot."

Other members of the team are:

- Kim Borrenpohl, a 5-11 freshman forward from Okawville.

- Stacy Ganz, a 5-10 junior forward from Okawville.

- Laura Lasseter, a 5-5 sophomore guard from Carterville.

- Dobia Oros, a 5-6 sophomore guard from Alton Marquette.

- Jennifer Skaggs, a 6-1 senior forward from Pope County High.

- Heather Taska, a 5-7 sophomore guard from Mount Vernon.

- Catherine White, a 6-0

"It's hard to know what to expect from the other teams. Courtney has told us everything that happened last year and how we need to prepare ourselves as much as we can."

The

Southern Region women's scholastic team will play their games in pool play on June 29, either at SIU-Edwardsville's Vadalabene Center or at Bellville Area College. Championships will be June 30 at SIUE, with third-place games at BAC.

Winners need not be present to win and will receive prizes by mail.

To protect the grass at Busch, only hitters will be allowed on the field. Families and friends can watch from the stands.

And for a small donation, all fans attending the event can don a Cardinals jersey and baseball cap and have their picture taken.

The Judds today

Judd-25 Years

Larry and Sue (Sherfy) Judd celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary recently. There were 300 guests invited to celebrate the occasion.

A luau was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Granite City. The tables were decorated with coconuts and with candles and Hawaiian flowers.

As the guests entered the hall, each received Hawaiian leis which were placed around their necks. The children received candy leis.

The evening began with Hawaiian cocktails and a Polynesian buffet by Custom Catering at Westport Plaza in St. Louis.

The couple cut the anniversary cake, made by Jose Madox of Greenwood, Ind.

A speech about the couple and their 25 years was given by Debbie DiMarco (Barker) Ron and Mary Ellen (Barker) Craig and Tina (Judd) Craig, Sam and Debbie DiMarco and Jim Klem and Nancy (Barker) Torre.

Flower bouquets were presented by the couple's grandmothers.

Fresh flower leis were placed around the couple's necks by their youngest daughter, Amy Judd.

A special Polynesian dance was performed by their eldest daughter, Angela (Judd) Petrosky.

At Ellis' song, "I Want You, I Need You, I Love You," was dedicated and sung to the couple by Gary Craig, Craig and Bob Maddox, who sang "The Love, Sleep Tonight," along with the help of all the children present.

The luau continued with authentic Polynesian entertainment provided by the Pacific Island Dancers followed by the Cadell's Hawaiian Martial Arts Team.

Assisting the couple with the first dance of the evening was the original wedding party of 25 years ago: Chuck and Lynn (Judd) Cadell, Dr. Robert and Jose (Judd) Maddox, Tim and Debbie DiMarco (Barker) Ron and Mary Ellen (Barker) Craig and Tina (Judd) Craig, Sam and Debbie DiMarco and Jim Klem and Nancy (Barker) Torre.

Also assisting with the dances were the couple's daughters, Angela (Judd) and Steven Petrosky and Amy Judd and John Gardner.

The evening concluded with dancing.

Knights present scholarships

At the regular meeting of the Knights of Columbus Council 1098 of Granite City, Knights Peter Krueger, Ed Lenzi, chairman of the scholarship fund, presented $1,000 scholarships to the following students: Francis Christiansen, Matthew Bukovac and Damian Tullian.

The scholarships are to be used for the students' choice of schools.

OrganizationsBig Brothers/*Big Sisters

More than 100 children throughout Madison and St. Clair counties are waiting for a special friend — a big brother or big sister.

In the Granite City area, 21 children are waiting to be matched with a volunteer in the Big Brothers/Big Sisters program.

Public and private ventures, a nationally recognized program development and research organization, recently released the results of its study on the impact of having an adult mentor in the life of a child.

The study showed that Little Brothers and Little Sisters, who met and spent time together for about a year, were more confident in their performance in school and:

✓ 46 percent less likely to begin using illegal drugs;

✓ 27 percent less likely to begin using alcohol;

✓ 52 percent less likely to skip school; and

✓ 33 percent less likely to hit someone.

Individuals who agree to be a Big Brother or Big Sister are asked to spend time with a child, register online, to find out how you can make a difference, call Big Brothers/Big Sisters at 463-4404.

Tourist attractions beckon vacationers

By Kevin Carberry
Staff writer

As we head into the heart of June, it's time for the start of the family vacation season. Good luck to you who plan to pile the kids into the car to take off on some 12-hour trek on our vacation highway.

My family went on summer vacation trips almost every year when I was a kid, and the destination was always the same: Florida. We went to different Sunshine State cities Daytona, Fort Lauderdale, Orlando, Tampa, Panama City, Orlando—but it had to be Florida, because my mother loves the ocean and palm trees.

Looking back, it's a wonder my parents didn't leave my sister and me at a rest stop somewhere. "He's touching me" or "She's looking at me" would be screamed out of the back seat until Mom would finally yell, "OK, you look out the window and you look out your window, and don't let me catch you

What kept life relatively calm on the road were two things. First, Moms always had bags of snacks and other snacks. Second, she would bring along a family movie to keep us entertained. Our favorites were "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" and "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," which both make me laugh to this day.

These were interesting sights along the road and some educational experiences. For instance, we learned that grits were served with any breakfast in Southern restaurants during the '70s, which was when our trips took place. Also, we found that practically no man-made tourist attractions lived up to their hype.

You'd see billboards for alligator wrestling or the world's largest nut log. Then, if you bothered to pull off the road to see the attraction, it invariably let you down.

The one constant was the beach. As long as it didn't rain, you knew you'd have fun floating on rafts or playing in the sand.

There are many destinations with American travel destinations and tourist attractions. I hope your vacation trips go well and you maintain family harmony. Don't forget the suntan lotion.

In which state can you find the Five-Spot-Tail Chicken tourist attraction?

Disney World in Orlando, Fla., opened in what year?

3. In which state can you find the world's oldest living bridge?

The House of Telephones, which has more than 1,000 telephones, is in which state?

5. Who was the European credited with having discovered Florida?

6. Which state has the longest coastline?

7. The Caverns are in which state?

8. Which United States city's zoo gets the most visitors each year?

9. The Spam Museum is located in which state?

10. Which four presidents are depicted at Mount Rushmore, in South Dakota?

ANSWERS: 1. Florida; 2. 1971; 3. Minnesota;

4. Michigan; 5. Texas; 6. Florida; 7. Florida;

8. Florida; 9. California; 10. George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln, and Theodore Roosevelt.

Kevin Carberry can be heard as a member of The KMOX Trivia Party" radio show from 8 to 11 p.m. Sundays on KMOX-AM 1070.

Comedy comes to Summerstage

The current show at Summerstage, "Run For Your Wife," is a madcap comedy concerning what happens to a madcap cab driver (Marty Eckhard) when he gets hit by a mugger trying to save an old lady from muggers.

His life begins to unravel because he just happens to have two wives (Mary Bright and Beth McNeilly). What he and his best friend (George Cochran) do to keep his wives apart makes for one laugh after another.

Also on the cabby's trail are two policemen (Richard Skirball and Albert Supp) and an upstairs neighbor (Bill Conklin).

The production is directed by Eckhard and Beverly Scroggins.

"Run For Your Wife," written by British actor and playwright Ray Cooney, will be at Summerstage Playhouse, 2906 Pershing Ave. in Granite City, June 21, 22, and 23. Show time is 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $6 per person.

For more information or ticket reservation, call 451-1032.

Horoscope

THURSDAY, JUNE 20

Romantic feelings through the workplace, the living space and especially where people go to just hang out. The sun is fading out magnetic, gentle, and wise last week to come, for attention are being played out in their fullest under the show-off Leo moon.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

A friend or colleague is thrifty. Arrange to see friends you never seem to have time for. While enjoying a hobby, try not to compare yourself to others.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

A co-worker has gained maturity, making him or her a reliable source of information or computer or administrative skills to increase your promotional potential. Make the call that you have been procrastinating.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)

Your employer gives you a long, well deserved break. Your basic instinct to hang on to your original goal a little longer will ultimately lead to artistic success. Someone else's decision means more money for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)

Stretch yourself—you will be surprised at your capabilities.

TROJAN (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

Personal planning makes goals easier to obtain. Show love to a dear friend. Research and career study may be your presentation the most impressive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21)

A romantic pursuer stops seeing you through rose-colored lenses and likes you even more. Be satisfied with a friend's best effort. A joy-spreader is infectious.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

Love is in the air, which the schedule. Exercise in the evening. Give yourself an hour just to daydream. You have a certain sparkle that makes people attentive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

A romance gets more real. Delegate tedious tasks. An artistic pursuit may require more of your time and attention. It is not too late to take advantage of a romantic offer.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

Personal planning makes goals easier to obtain. Show love to a dear friend. Research and career study may be your presentation the most impressive.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

Your sweetheart comes calling. Show your vigor to keep business contacts fresh. Your intelligence still has a need for childish games. Your job security is reinforced. Your decision on a romantic matter is wise—stick to it!

Jackson marvelous in 'White Hype'

The Rev. Fred Sultan is partial to color-coordinated suits and neckties, the kind a businessman in Middle Eastern oil sulfates might wear.

Except that good Rev's kingdom is the boxing ring, and his playground is Las Vegas. His fighting subjects are a nest of spineless yes-men whose jobs are as stable as Sultan's whims and whose intensity is as shallow as the window with this day's stain glass.

Samuel L. Jackson stars as the sleazy boxing promoter and hustler in Twentieth Century Fox's "The Great White Hype," and he's beyond marvelous.

Dripping in jewels and glitz and acting broader than life for his fellow executives, Sultan makes Don King look like a Boy Scout. He's a control freak who suddenly finds he can't box everything, because boxing is longer than people are willing to fill an arena to see two black men try to kill each other.

So Sultan decides to find a boxer to challenge his prize fighter, heavyweight champ James "The Grim Reaper" Roper (Damon Wayans). But he finds him in Irish Terry Conklin (Peter Berg), a wiggled-out rocker.

Sultan's machinations to bring out the biggest fight ever—Louie, boxer Max Schmeling, shape the corps of this dark comedy, seamlessly directed by Reginald Hudlin.

Screenplay by Tony Hendra and Ron Shelton, who tap into the quirkiest nuances of boxing and its subcultures.

Sultan's entourage is larger than life, and his newest member is Mitchell Kane (Jeff Goldblum), a documentary filmmaker who replaces Sultan's previous flack, who is quickly dispatched after he messes up. Sultan is such a smooth operator, he's able to quickly seduce Kane, who is quickly seduced.

Though there are many players in this story, it's impossible to take your eyes off Jackson. But he gets even more support from Goldblum, Wayans, Jamie Foxx as a rival manager and Lovitz as the hapless gofer.

THE LAW AND YOU By RICK REED Attorney At Law

The question sometimes arises as to whether an employer can be held responsible for the negligent, willful, malicious or criminal acts of its employees. To answer this question in a given case, one would have to look to the legal principle known as "respondeat superior." The general maxim of this phrase from the Latin is "let the master answer." This doctrine allows a person injured by an employee to look to the employer for recovery in certain cases.

Illinois law provides that an employer may be liable for the negligent, willful, malicious or criminal acts of its employees when such acts are committed in the course of employment and in furtherance of the business of the employer. The employer is liable to the injured person where the acts complained of were done solely for the benefit of the employee.

In one recent case, a teacher's aide at a YMCA day care center allegedly sexually abused a three-year-old child who was a pupil at the facility. The parents filed suit against the aide and the YMCA and alleged that the teacher's aide sexually molested the child and struck her while the employee was "in the course of her employment" at the day care center. The YMCA failed to discipline the employee, and the complaint directed suit, contending that the offensive acts were not done within the scope of the aide's employment.

The Circuit Court dismissed the counts of the complaint and directed a trial on the corresponding counts of the YMCA, and the plaintiff appealed this decision.

Should the YMCA be responsible for the intentional acts of its employee is this case? The Appellate Court ruled that the teacher's aide was acting in the scope of her employment when she committed these acts but rather was acting solely for her own benefit when she assaulted and sexually molested the young child. Therefore, the principle of respondeat superior was found not to apply in this case, and the YMCA was properly dismissed from the suit.

In a similar case decided in 1985, a security guard stopped a young girl after he entered office for the purpose of searching her. There he sexually molested her. The Court here also ruled that the employee's actions were a deviation from the scope of employment, and that the grocery store was not liable to the injured girl.

Eagles install new officers

Before the Granite City Eagles 1126 Auxiliary meeting, Florence Stokes, installing president, installed Florence Hagnauer, two-year trustee, and Martha Simpson, three-year trustee, as they were unable to attend the Installation June 1.

The meeting was then opened by the new president, Susan Allen. All new officers were present for her first meeting.

One reenrollment was read on the floor, and motion was made and seconded to approve the reenrollment of Esther McCosky. The secretary read the name of one new applicant, Joann Spencer, incoming chairman, reported on Ima LeMaster, who was then initiated by the auxiliary ritual team of Vera Johnson, president; Joann Spencer, vice-president; Barbara Modusic, vice-president; Amelia Weatherford, chaplain; and Angie Buehler, conductress.

Correspondence read on the floor included a thank-you card from District 7 president Marilyn Oyen of Alton. Barbara Ramsey, kitchen chairman, was then chosen. Vice-chairman, secretary, announced that District 7, of which Granite City is a member, gave a $25 donation to Foundation Church for its kitchen painter.

Spencer then gave a report on the District 7 meeting held June 9 in Granite City. Helen Miller, conductress, was then thanked for filling up the flower pots in front of the Eagles hall.

Nina Jackson gave a program report on the float, which the aerie and auxiliary is entering in the parade, to be held June 22.

Mildred Boyd, visiting chairman, sent get-well cards to Susan Sechrist and a sympathy card to Elizabeth Moore.

Ruth Jorgensen, who is the state Eagle Education Fund chairman, said that her fund topped the donations given last year.

auditor reports were read and approved.

The jackpot winner was Tammy Harman. She was not present, so there was no winner.

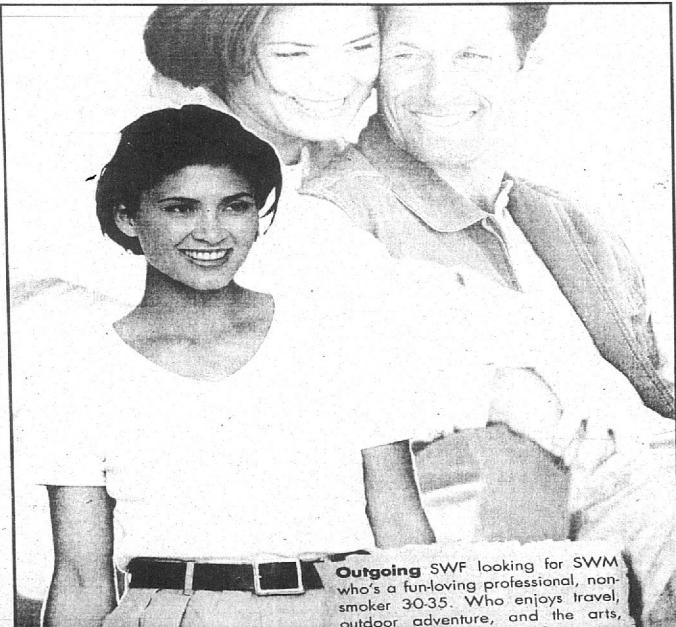

The Good of the Auxiliary was won by Allen and Buehler.

The closing ceremony was then held and the meeting was adjourned.

Refreshments were served by Florence Hagnauer and her committee.
